

Calling All Experts. Give Us What You've Got.

Owning a small business presents new challenges every day. Your sage advice can be exactly what a business owner needs to keep the ball rolling. COSE offers various forums where you can share your business experience with those actively seeking information. By participating, you'll not only open the door to new opportunities for network building and new business, you'll also enjoy the fulfillment in knowing you've truly helped fuel small business success.

Share Your Expertise.

Linktunity is a place for small businesses to connect with tenured experts for answers to their pressing business questions. Becoming a Linktunity expert gives you the opportunity to create a customized profile that features your own expert content creating a platform for you to showcase your knowledge and expertise to connect with other business owners.

Submit your application today at: www.linktunity.com/Become-An-Expert incFuse provides start-up and early-stage business owners with the tools and expertise they need to overcome the hurdles of starting a business. COSE incFuse experts build enduring business relationships as they connect entrepreneurs with resources in the community. Help make a positive impact on someone's dream of success.

Visit cose.org/volunteer for more info or apply by contacting Scott Miker at 216-592-2307 or smiker@cose.org.

Share Your Expert Guidance.

Speaking Opportunities

Every year, COSE hosts a variety of events that address how to succeed in business. We keep an open ear throughout the year for dynamic speakers with relevant information to share with the small business community. Our events include:

Small Business Convention (SBC)

Our premier education and networking event for small businesses across the Midwest. COSE accepts speaker proposals and applications for the SBC workshops every spring for this annual fall event.

Educational Events

COSE hosts many information-rich, educational events throughout the year. These events feature experts speaking on issues relevant to small business owners.

Visit www.cose.org/events for more information or contact events@cose.org with any questions about these opportunities.

Share Your Secrets to Success.

Sharing your expertise is what COSE is all about – connecting business owners to one another for support, resources and advice. To learn more about COSE expert and volunteer opportunities, please contact us at getinvolved@cose.org.